One recorder, all the info you'll ever need

FRWD is the most comprehensive sports performance measurement tool ever designed. It gives you precise GPS data, heart rate, altitude and speed. The best part is that having all the different parameters in one tool can actually make the results more accurate. .

You only need one.

One recorder, all the sports you'll ever do

Thanks to the wide variety of information FRWD collects, it can be used in just about any outdoor sport there is. Comparing data gathered from different sports activities is easy, too.

Observe, record, replay

You can use your Symbian mobile phone to observe the data from your performance in real-time, via Bluetooth technology. Press one button, and every last detail is recorded into FRWD's memory. This is our recommendation. Just enjoy the experience now. Pore over the data later. And enjoy it again.

You only live it once, twice, three or more times.

The first time is always the best, but never underestimate the power of memory. Especially FRWD's memory. It's so much more than a snapshot. The FRWD Replayer PC program displays your route as a 3D graph, along with your heart rate, speed, altitude... Not only can you relive an individual event, but you can also follow your own development as an athlete over time. One tool, all the inspiration you'll need.

It all adds up to you getting more out of every moment.

The race against yourself

RACE MODE allows you to replay several performances concurrently, pitting you against your toughest adversary: Yourself. You can replay the performance as a whole or moment by moment to get to the tiniest detail. That's where the answer lies and FRWD can help you dig it out.

daredevil Patrick Blom is master of earth, wind, and water, liquid and frozen. The fire burns in his heart. FRWD stokes the flames. The road to improvement goes through knowledge of self: How fast?
How many beats of the heart?
How much better?
